

NEVADA'S BOOM.

Outsiders are paying considerable attention to Nevada just now. The fact that several railroad schemes in the State are talked about indicates this. California's boom is a thing of the past. Nevada will surely have her day in the near future. Our boom is slowly rolling along, and its rumble is heard by those whose ears are sharp enough to interpret the mutterings. Let it once become settled that there is prosperity to be found aside from the mining interests of the State, and other enterprises will be established. Agriculture is bound to be the ruling industry of this commonwealth. Stock raising is of course embodied in the term. An agricultural prosperity is more permanent and desirable than any other. It would be a prouder boast that Nevada sent to the world millions of dollars in food material than that she supplied its silver. Our almost endless acres of sagebrush and sand, which the tourist and casual observer designates as desolate and worthless, may be made to gladden the eye with waving grain and the cool, green sheen of the clover fields.

As the country is opened by railroad lines and markets become accessible the land will find ready settlers. There is no reason why water cannot be raised from the earth here as well as in California. Ranchers do not wait there for water to be brought from the mountains. They help themselves from the storage reservoirs under ground. This system will eventually be adopted on this side of the mountains and land be made productive away from the valleys where our few rivers flow.

There is more satisfaction to the enterprising man in overcoming difficulties to force success than in attaining it without effort. The Native Sons of Nevada will yet be proud of the place of their nativity.

Trees as Irrigators.

Foster, the meteorologist, makes the following remarks about the utility of trees. It has been demonstrated in this State that cultivation of the soil has brought more moisture. Possibly the planting of trees has had its effect although no vast forests have been attempted. A good forestry law in this State might be of great benefit, but it takes our Solons a long time to think before they act. The only law which ever really encouraged the planting of forest trees was repealed seven years ago. It had not threatened to bankrupt the Treasury but some wisacre probably thought it might. The moral of Mr. Foster's remarks is plain to every citizen of Nevada who desires her prosperity.

"Five hundred years ago, Spain was a desert. Streams, springs and wells were dried up, and the crops generally failed. The meteorologists of that day investigated the matter, and declared that the destruction of the forests was the cause. Forestry laws were enacted, millions of trees planted, and it was made a crime to cut or destroy trees, although they were private property, without a Government permit. Thus the forests were largely increased, and the fertility of Spain's farming lands restored.

"When Moses made war against the inhabitants of Asia Minor, the forests were dense, the rainfall great, and the land flowed with milk and honey. The Israelites destroyed the timber, the country became a desert, and the Jewish nation was broken up and driven out. In modern times, the growth of trees had been encouraged, the forests protected, the fertility of the soil is returning, and the population increasing."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The widow of J. Fiske has recovered a verdict against the Travelers Insurance Company for $10,000 in a suit at Fresno. Fiske was killed by Stillwell in the streets of Fresno.

Bodie is reported by traveling men to be the one live camp in this section. Upwards of 150 men are working in the mines there. A prosperous spring is anticipated at Lundy, also.

If people will only keep their hats on a few weeks they are sure to see a general living up of business in Carson. Many substantial improvements are contemplated this spring and Carsonites are sure to witness a boom.
